2021-2022
FISCAL YEAR

United Way of Greater Mercer County

Dear Friends and Supporters,

This report is a testament to the collective efforts of a caring and resilient community, coming together to build a region where everyone can succeed. At United Way of Greater Mercer County (UWGMC), we understand the vital importance of filling gaps and addressing the pressing needs of our neighbors. Over the past year, our focus on increased access to food and economic mobility by connecting low-income residents with crucial resources has allowed us to do just that. Through direct services and the support of invaluable partnerships, we reached hundreds of Mercer County families facing financial hardships.

For example, our Strike Out Hunger initiative has provided sustenance and hope using a multi-pronged approach of awareness, community involvement, and partnerships with community organizations and local farms, highlighting the critical role of food security in building a resilient community. Additionally, our commitment to helping struggling families land and stay on their feet encompasses delivering key programs including free income tax preparation services (also known as the VITA program), budgeting and financial coaching, health insurance enrollment, and other benefit enrollment services. Your support has been instrumental in driving these efforts. As we move forward, we remain dedicated to fostering innovative solutions and addressing emerging needs, ensuring a brighter future for everyone in the Greater Mercer County area.

Thank you for being an integral part of this remarkable journey.

With heartfelt appreciation,

Sandra Toussaint

WHO WE ARE

The mission of United Way of Greater Mercer County (UWGMC) is to propel individuals and families to reach their fullest potential, especially those who have been traditionally underserved or marginalized, creating a thriving community. We carry out our mission by implementing unique and sustainable programs that use evidence-based best practices and deliver measurable outcomes. We work to strengthen the family, local non-profits whose missions align with ours, and the community in which we serve. Our objective is to operate with an equitable lens while filling community gaps. Our direct service work centers on disrupting poverty in three areas: education, financial empowerment, and overall health and wellness. In addition, UWGMC works to bolster the capacity of grassroots organizations with technical assistance, and other resources.

HOW WE HELP

By partnering with local businesses, nonprofit and civic organizations, schools, and government agencies we extend our impact and tap into diverse communities. Collaborative efforts foster a holistic approach to address overlapping challenges and maximize resources for efficient program implementation. Beyond tangible benefits, collaboration cultivates a sense of community and collective responsibility, strengthening our ability to make a lasting difference in the lives of Greater Mercer County residents. Together, we harness the power of collective action to build a community where everyone can thrive. We have a local impact with the strength of a global network.

This year we were able to connect Mercer County residents to nutritious food including fresh produce, educational opportunities, and vital resources for an improved quality of life in new and creative ways via partnerships. We are grateful for all of our partners and collaborators within the community and beyond. These include Salvation Army Trenton, Rotary Club of Trenton, Rider University's Black Student Union volunteers, NRG Energy, Geogreens, Mercer Street Friends, Jewish Family and Children's Services, South Brunswick Public Schools, SingleCare, Trenton Area Soup Kitchen, The College of New Jersey, NJ211, and so many more.

FOOD ACCESS

This year, with the continued influence of the pandemic, the UWGMC bolstered its efforts to combat and bring awareness to food insecurity in our area.

Our Strike Out Hunger events were held both virtually and in person, following CDC guidelines. Throughout the county, people and organizations collected nonperishable goods and volunteers supported our efforts to grow and harvest fresh produce through our partnerships with Geo Greens, Rolling Harvest, and other local farms. With the support of over 100 volunteers, more than 35,000 meals were boxed at TCNJ's Recreation Center to kick off the Strike Out Hunger initiative. Later, these meals were distributed by Mercer Street Friends Food Bank to local pantries and food distribution sites.

This year, upon receiving a $10,000 donation from SupplyHouse, UWGMC was able to provide more than 200 gift cards for fresh produce to families affected by Hurricane Ida, giving them the means to access healthy food despite hardships caused by the storm. These funds also allowed UWGMC to collaborate with the Salvation Army Trenton, the Rotary Club of Trenton, and Rider University's Black Student Union volunteers to collect and distribute items for personal care and education kits.

For Thanksgiving, 1,000 meals were prepared for local families with the support of NRG Energy, Inc. during a three-day event. Mercer Street Friends, Jewish Family Children's Services, The Salvation Army, and South Brunswick Public Schools later distributed these meals in their food pantries.

ECONOMIC MOBILITY

This year, we advocated for state legislation that would increase the New Jersey Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) benefit amount. This tax credit is for working individuals and families with low- to moderate-income, and it provides essential relief for residents in our community. We also fought for bills that would extend EITC to undocumented workers who file taxes.

The UWGMC partnered with several organizations to allow Mercer County area residents to receive free financial coaching, budgeting workshops, and more. After these programs, many reported seeing increased credit scores, reduced debt, improved savings, and financial confidence. Most of the program participants were households earning $65,000 or less, many of which were households run by women.

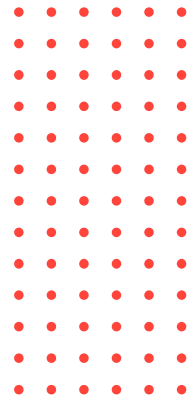

As in previous years, we continue to connect residents with free income tax preparation services also known as the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program. This year there were six in-person sites throughout the county including the UWGMC office where a resident can get free tax preparation services from IRS-certified volunteers. Additionally, the UWGMC connected residents to MyFree Taxes.

YOUTH SUCCESS

UWGMC supports Trenton Digital Initiative (TDI Connect) by assisting with volunteer recruitment and getting computer donations. This critical partnership can help pave the way for success in higher education. This year, 81 laptops were donated to the Trenton Central High School graduates who received their Seal of Biliteracy. An additional 20 laptops were donated to Trenton United Family Foundation (TUFF) to help support their summer and after-school programs.

UWGMC is committed to providing young people with the opportunities and support they need to be successful. One of the ways we demonstrate that commitment is through our College Access Program. The UWGMC deploys staff and consultants to provide college essay writing and Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) workshops and one-on-one consultation with students and their families. These free services help many in our area navigate a complex, yet important measure to access higher education, and they create pathways to economic security through educational attainment. This year workshops were held at the Boys & Girls Club of Mercer County, Mill Hill Child & Development Center, Foundation Academies, W.E.B. Du Bois Scholars Institute, UWGMC office, and many more locales including libraries.

WHY WE HELP

The United Way of Greater Mercer County (UWGMC) is driven by a profound commitment to enhancing the well-being of our community through a local impact approach strengthened by a global network. Our work is crucial as we strive to break down barriers to economic mobility, ensuring all residents have access to basic needs like food, education, health and wellness resources, and other vital services. By remaining focused on equity and filling community gaps, we are fostering conditions for broad-based community well-being that helps all people overcome challenges, become resilient, and build a brighter future. We will continue to do the work that needs to be done.
